

High Reliability Schools by Bob Marzano

October 24, 2016

Workshop #032-16

GRREC Office & Training Facility • 230 Technology Way • Bowling Green, KY

The Green River Regional Educational Cooperative is pleased to offer High Reliability Schools by Dr. Bob Marzano. Participants who attend this training will explore the five levels of High Reliability Schools while learning to identify and address leading and lagging indicators. They will discover new ways to utilize collaborative teams to address common issues regarding curriculum, assessment, instruction, and achievement of all students. Plus, they will be able to contextualize the research to transform their organization into a High Reliability School.

Dr. Bob Marzano is cofounder and CEO of Marzano Research Laboratory in Centennial, Colo., and a former senior scholar at Mid-continent Research for Education and Learning in Aurora, Colo. He has developed programs and practices used in K–12 classrooms that translate current research and theory in cognition into instructional methods. An internationally known trainer and speaker, Marzano has authored 30 books and more than 150 articles and chapters in books on such topics as reading and writing instruction, thinking skills, school effectiveness, restructuring, assessment, cognition, and standards implementation.

Marzano received a bachelor's degree in English from Iona College in New York, a master's degree in education in reading/language arts from Seattle University, and a doctorate in curriculum and instruction from the University of Washington.
